

Meira Warshauer's music has been performed to critical acclaim throughout North America and Europe, as well as in South America, the Middle East, and Asia. Her works are regularly heard on radio and have recently been featured by Public Radio International's Living on Earth, and American Public Media's Performance Today, the most listened-to classical music radio program in the US. Meira's musical palette is wide, ranging from traditional Jewish prayer modes to minimalist textures with rich melodic contours, and from joyful jazz-influenced rhythms to imaginative orchestrations of the natural world. At its core, it expresses her personal spiritual journey. As Ina Esther Joost, principal cellist with Jerusalem Symphony, observes, "Meira's music comes from a place which is beyond music. It is like a prayer...from deep within the soul ... (and) it always evokes deep responses from the listeners."

Warshauer has devoted much of her creative output to Jewish themes and their universal message. Streams in the Desert, an all Warshauer CD of music for orchestra and chorus inspired by the Torah, was released by Albany Records (Troy 973) in fall, 2007. Tekeeyah (a call), the first concerto ever written for shofar, trombone, and orchestra, began its premiere season performances in 2009 with soloist Haim Avitsur and commissioning orchestras Wilmington Symphony (NC), Brevard Philharmonic (NC), and University of South Carolina Symphony. Consortium premieres continued with Western Piedmont Symphony's performance in spring 2011, and will conclude with the Dayton Philharmonic's performances in the 2012-2013 season.

Her work also reflects a love and concern for the earth. Her Symphony No. 1: Living, Breathing Earth, commissioned by Dayton Philharmonic, South Carolina Philharmonic, and Western Piedmont Symphony, was profiled by Aileen LeBlanc for PRI's Living on Earth during the symphony's premiere season in 2007, and again in 2011. Symphony No. 1 and Tekeeyah were recorded by the Moravian Philharmonic for Navona Records' 2011 release, Living Breathing Earth (NV5842). In addition to her compositions, Meira's concern for the earth is also demonstrated by her active involvement in environmental issues.

Other recordings include YES! recorded by Richard Stoltzman and the Warsaw Philharmonic on Perspectives(MMC2162), Bati l'Gani (I entered My Garden) recorded by Paula Robison and Cyro Baptista on Places of the Spirit, (Pucker Gallery), Shevet Achim (Brothers Dwell) for two bass clarinets recorded by Richard Nunemaker on The Louisville Project(AUR3127), Bracha (Blessing) for violin and piano recorded by the Kobayashi-Grey duo on Feminissismo(Troy1081), Revelation recorded by the Silesian State Philharmonic on Robert Black Conducts(MMC2008), and Jerusalem, Open Your Gates (third movement) performed live by Neil Casey and the University of South Carolina Symphony on Musicscapes, Vol 1(MMC2170D). Other all Warshauer CDs are the soundtrack to the documentary Land of Promise: The Jews of South Carolina(Kol Meira 2002) and Spirals of Light: Chamber Music and Poetry on Themes of Enlightenment(Kol Meira 2001).
